Risk: Derivatives are complex financial products that are traded on margin. Trading Derivatives carry a high level of risk since leverage can work both to your advantage and disadvantage. As a result, Derivatives may not be suitable for all investors because you may lose all your invested capital. You should not risk more than you are prepared to lose. Before deciding to trade, you need to ensure that you understand the risks involved taking into account your investment objectives and level of experience. Past performance of Derivatives is not a reliable indicator of future results. Most Derivatives have no set maturity date. Hence, a Derivative position matures on the date you choose to close an existing open position. Seek independent advice, if necessary.
